"Affluence" – Smash Hit Comedy Comes to Banbridge!!!

Following sold-out tours across Northern Ireland and in advance of its highly anticipated Grand Opera House debut in October, Peace III are funding the smash hit comedy "Affluence" to come to the Iveagh Cinema, Banbridge on Wednesday 18th & Thursday 19th September at 7.30pm – ADMISSION FREE!!!

Affluence is set on Duck Island, Strangford Lough, where Protestants and Catholics have lived without ever having flush toilets. Trouble brews when "The Man from the Mainland" arrives and informs them they will have to share the same sewage pipes, things begin to happen...

This laugh- a -minute comedy takes a light hearted look at some of the main issues surrounding the Catholic and Protestant communities.

Wesley Burrowes' superb script satires and sends up the traditional traditions and political politics of Northern Ireland life. Fast-paced, clever and relentless - don't miss the comedy that has had audiences across the country on their feet.

The performance is followed by a Q & A hosted by T V Personality Adrian Logan and refreshments!

To avoid disappointment on the night, pre-book your FREE ticket by contacting the Iveagh Cinema on 406 62666 or by calling in.

Don't delay... it's a show not to be missed!!!!
