

Well done Annemarie!

Look out for our local Irish Actor Annemarie Gaillard (youngest daughter of Armand and Eithne)
on RTE Two's new reality show series, 'Hollywood Trials' which begins on Thursday April 10th at 9.30pm.

The show follows 10 participants selected from over 900+ applicants, as they undergo intensive training from top acting coach Margie Haber - who counts Brad Pitt as one of her successes. This fly-on-the-wall 6part documentary series filmed the actors over a month in Los Angeles, in September '07, helping to give them an insight into what it takes to make it in the ruthless film industry of Tinseltown. Until now, the identity of the 10 lucky contestants have remained a great secret but all hope that Hollywood Trials will raise their profiles at home and make them some important contacts in LA.

Annemarie, who has recently completed a very successful season as Sleeping Beauty in Belfast's Waterfront Theatre Pantomime, can be currently seen as the wily office worker in the new Cadbury Snack Bar ads shown at present on RTE.